

MRS. ROGERS MUST HANG.

from St. Albans. We should not be swept away by sympathetic surmises. The jury and judge have undergone it already and having heard it, Mary Rogers was yet found guilty. We are in a poor position to place ourselves in the court's attitude. It is awful to grope, but it is awful for one human being to take into her hands the life of another. The speaker alluded to the resulting nature of the crime. There should have been as much sympathy and as many tears around the bier of the murdered man as there should be here about the gallows. Vote with this thought firmly rooted in your mind. On the higher plane of justice the verdict would be, "Go where thou has sent the life that thou hast taken." This the speaker said after rehearsing the case of the woman taken in adultery and Christ's reply to her accusers—a case which he did not regard as parallel to this one.

Mr. Shaw of Marlboro said he voted to retain capital punishment, but he should vote to commute, because he could not give his voice to thus destroy a fellow-being, lest there might be the possibility of reform of this life.

Mr. Newton of Reading said that the sentiment of his section, which was the locality where the execution would take place, was opposed to it. "As a member my privilege to vote for the commutation of three sentences, and it will be of the legislature two years ago, it was my privilege to do so in the case of Mary Rogers today." Having then commuted three men, it is now unjust to hang a woman.

Mr. Taft of Waltham referred to other murderers, some of whom have been called insane, others pardoned, and queried whether it was wise to deal harshly with this woman.

Mr. O'Brien of South Burlington said it was a cold-blooded murder, and the law should take its course.

Mr. Archibald of Manchester felt the responsibility of the hour. He admitted the guilt of Mary Rogers—there was no doubt of it. But he denied that the majesty of the law would be upheld by strangling this woman. Voting to commute does not involve moral cowardice. He enlarged somewhat on the idea of man as woman's protector. Will the state be benefited by taking the life of this woman? He pleaded on the score of expediency and mercy, and to some extent, that of justice. He urged the woman's lack of appreciation of right and wrong, and held the state responsible for not taking her when she was young and training her in the right way. He quoted her as saying she had never had a chance—had learned more in jail than she had outside of it. He asked that this chance be given her.

How They Voted.

This is how they voted yesterday. For commutation, Ackerman, Almsworth, Alden, Archibald, Atwood, Benton, Bentley, Blanchard, Bliss, Broughton, Brown of Wilmington, Buchanan, Bullard, Cheddi, Chewy, Comstock, Conway, Cook of Canaan, Cook of Greensboro, Corser, Curtis, Daley of Hartford, Daley of Lexington, Dana, Darling of Chelsea, Darr, Downer, Durich, Ford of Guilford, Ford of Isle La Motte, Galusha, Hastings, Hatch, Hazeltine, Hunt, Hutchins, Hutchinson of Brain.

GRANITEVILLE.

Ladies' Aid Society Fair at Miles' Hall, December 12 and 13.

Be sure and attend the Ladies' Aid fair at Miles' hall, Monday evening and see "The Parliament of Servants," to be presented by the ladies of the society who are working industriously to make it a success. The play describes all the joys and sorrows of housekeeping with Irish, German and American servants and is sure to keep everybody laughing during the play. This alone is well worth the price of admission. There will also be some fine selections of reading and instrumental music during the evening. The programme Tuesday evening will begin promptly at 7:30 o'clock and will consist of "The Katy Did Cantata," under the direction of Miss Phillips of Barre. There are 25 children in the cantata and they have all been carefully trained by Miss Phillips. This is sure to be a treat which nobody should miss. Don't leave your lady friend at home for they will surely enjoy the singing and it will be well worth the price of admission 10 cents.

Matt Haley and family have returned from New York city, where he has been helping Mr. Howland of Barre to erect large pillars of granite.
